SAMA - Rules Governing Anti-Money Laundering and Combating Terrorist Financing (Synthetic)

Regulator: Saudi Central Bank (SAMA)
Regulation ID: REG-SAMA-AML-2023
Effective: 2023-01-15

Article 8 - Money Mule and Pass-Through Accounts

Banks shall implement monitoring that identifies accounts used as money mules, including accounts that receive funds from multiple unrelated parties or from multiple financial institutions and rapidly consolidate or forward those funds. Because such networks deliberately span several institutions, monitoring limited to a single bank's own customers is not sufficient to meet this Article.

Article 12 - Cash Structuring

Banks shall detect series of cash deposits structured below the applicable cash transaction reporting threshold, including deposits made on consecutive days by the same customer, and shall report them to the General Directorate of Financial Investigation (GDFI) where suspicion arises.

Article 17 - Sharing of Suspicious Identifiers

Where a bank identifies an identity document, device, or contact detail linked to suspected financial crime, it shall be able to determine whether the same identifier is associated with customers at other licensed institutions, using privacy-preserving mechanisms approved by SAMA, without disclosing customer data beyond what is necessary.
